EXPECTED LIFE OF DIESEL ENGINES.

Dear Sir,

This refers to our General Manager Finance meeting with your goodself and other Senior Members on 3rd October, 2001 regarding Generation License of our Company.

One Senior Member pointed out that expected remaining Life mentioned at serial No. 7 of Para EXISTING GENERATION FACILITIES (THERMAL) vide our Application No MPG/2000/3855 dated 1-6-2000 is 7 years. It was explained by our G.M.F. that this life of Engine is based as per accounting Terminology i.e. 10% Depreciation per year whereas physical operating Life of Engine as told by our G.M. Power is more than 25 years if properly maintained.

Therefore it is requested that physical operating life of Engine may kindly be considered about 25 years instead of existing described life of 10 years

Kindly let us know if any further information is needed in this matter.

Thanking you,

For Mahmood Power Generation Limited,

SCHEDULE-III

PART I

Licence Fees (Annual)

1. Generation Licence

Fee will be calculated at the rate of Rs.6200 per MW on the basis of gross (ISO) MW capacity of the licensed generation facility.

PART II

Terms of payment of fee by the Generation,
Transmission and Distribution Licensees

- I) The fee for the generation licences specified in this schedule shall be paid on a recurring basis in respect of each financial year by the licensee for the term of the licence (hereinafter referred to as the "annual licence fee")
- II) The annual licence fee in respect of any financial year shall be paid in advance within thirty days of the expiry of the preceding financial year, provided that, the annual licence fee for the first financial year shall be paid within thirty days of the date of grant of the licence and shall be prorated for the number of months remaining before the expiry of the financial year in which the licence is granted.
- III) In case of generation licenses, the Gross (ISO) MW capacity for which the generation licence is granted shall form the basis for the calculation of the annual licence fee.

Term of the Licence
(Article 5 of the Licence)
Mahmood Power Generation Limited

The rule 5 of the Licensing (Generation) Rules - 2000 stipulates that the term of Licence shall be commensurate with the maximum expected useful life of the units comprised in a generation facility demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Authority unless the applicant consents to a shorter period.

Mahmood Power Generation Limited has shown in its application No.MPG/2000, dated 01.06.2000 to NEPRA for a Generation Licence, remaining life of its facility as 21 years.

The Licensing Group considers that the Diesel Electric Generators normally have useful life of around 20 years. Since the plants of Mahmood Power Generation Limited were commissioned in 1997 therefore the Group recommends that the Licence be issued to Mahmood Power Generation Limited by the Authority for 15 years from the date of grant of Licence by the Authority.

AUTHORITY DECISION

The Authority agrees with the Licensing Group recommendations about the term of Licence. The Licence is granted for a term of 15 years.
